Department Reports were given:

Fire – Fire Chief Ryan Moore reported 17 calls for January. There was another ice incident the department responded to in January. During a large house fire, the department had issues with lines, nozzles, and valves freezing in the frigid temperatures. Four members attended state fire school. Jessi Moore attended a water safety course while there and ordered a fast board with lights and flotation. The department is looking at other ice rescue equipment. Four new members who are all Firefighter I certified were added to the Moravia Fire Department. They are also members of other departments. One more person has submitted their application to join. Ryan reported there is only two members on the county diving team, so they are training a new group of members to raise that number to ten or twelve. The American Red Cross has a smoke detector program where they are giving away free smoke detectors, and the Moravia Fire Department will install them for residents for free. If anyone wants one, please let them know so they order enough.

Library – Library Director Amanda Smith reported the Friends of the Library are applying for a grant through PACT to purchase a new desk for the library director and assistant.
